Poppy Day

Poignant reminder of those spacious days of glory and grieving, "Poppy Day" once more recurs to prompt the citizens of this country in the duties they have inherited from the past generation. To Canadian youth in this year of grace, the deep-red petals of the poppy may not carry the same significance they bore to the youth of sixteen years ago. The symbolism of sacrifice with which the Poppy has become charged is something to which the present generation succeeds only through the wisest memories of the ageing men who fought their Country's battles, who suffered privations, endured long agonies and finally triumphed amid surroundings carpeted with Poppies.

To wear this humble emblem on Poppy Day is to proclaim that amid all the jangling confusion through which this country is surviving valiantly to penetrate the heart and mind are nevertheless attuned to a sense of homage due those men whose peace inspired 600,000 Canadians to offer themselves for service between 1914 and 1918: of that number more than 60,000 found graves in France and Belgium. And it is over those graves that the Poppy blows in perennial bloom.

The numbered dead were not strangers. They were young Canadians, filled even as the youth of to-day is filled, with the joy of living. So also, were the 170,000 men who in 1933 bear upon their bodies the marks and scars of war—the unsated ex-service men who suffered disfigurement on behalf of Canada.

To manifest that proud recognition of their place in this Country, to mark that tribute which is their due, Poppy Day has been set aside in order that all may join in recalling the Great Sorrow.

The blood-red emblems distributed throughout Canada by the Canadian Legion—a vast volunteer organization—are the product of disabled veterans, men striving to maintain themselves in the Veterans' Shop, administered by the Dominion Government. To purchase a Poppy is a small thing. For every citizen to do so is a big thing.

Let us all wear a Poppy on Poppy Day.

The Halloween boys had a double celebration this year. After soaping most of the windows on Tuesday night, they turned out Wednesday a.m. under the direction of principal Thorsen and washed the windows off again. Then on Wednesday night a few outcasts were tipped over and Thursday morning the boys were right on the job tipping town up again under the direction of the policeman, Tom Madkins. The boys all seemed to enjoy the extra fun even though the water was cold to wash the windows with.

During the latter part of last week a party of young hunters had the pleasure of bagging a few game birds. On Monday the event was celebrated with a fowl supper at the home of Miss E. Kemp with a large number of young people present and, needless to say, a good time.

Morrison's Store at Greenshields Robbed

Seven Panes of Glass Broken by Party Entering

Petty thievery was committed at the store of William Morrison Greenshields, on the night of Monday November 5th.

Entry was made to the store by smashing a number of panes of glass to gain admittance to the general goods department.

It is difficult to obtain accurate knowledge of goods missing, but a quantity of cigarettes and minor articles were presumed to have been taken and a small amount of cash.

The safe was not tampered with. A stranger loitering in the neighborhood of the store Monday night acted suspiciously when accosted, and it is expected a check-up on the character will be made in a few days.

Novelty Dance

Elite Theatre Wainwright, was elaborately decorated on Wednesday evening last by the proprietors, Mr. William Bunker, for the outstanding event of the season, the Halloween Dance. Present were about seventy five couples, and all were out to take advantage of the good time afforded. There were special lighting effects, novelty dances, spot dances and all the frills which go to make such an evening a success.

Many prizes were given during the evening. Miss H. Hedlund won a pretty electric clock by being the holder of a lucky door ticket and similar number was also held by Leonard Hyde, but in the draw between the two ticket holders, the former's luck held. With a similar door ticket Miss Dorothy Wilkins became possessor of a large Betty Boop doll.

Spot dances were won by Eleanor Fish, Grace Witmann, Mrs. Alex. Home and Alice Dupre.

During the evening lunch was served by the ladies of St. Thomas Church. This feature also assisted in making the evening both attractive and pleasant.

FEAR OF WAR HAS A STRONG GRIP ON FRANCE

Paris.—Allegations of Germany's increasing military might intensified the war scare gripping France.

In great measure the fear of conflict, which overshadowed All-Saints day pilgrimages of the French people to the graves of their war and civil dead, was based on belief that the approaching plebiscite in the Saar might set off an international explosion.

For the first time since this war, the French apparently were not so confident of the crushing superiority of their army, leading minister of war Henri Petain to seek urgent reinforcements for the nation's weapon of defense.

Violent reaction in the German press to the announcement that French troops are ready to enter the Saar by the League of Nations commission governing that region calls for help was described in high quarters here as clear indication that the Nazis have been thinking of seizing the rich industrial area.

The Saar basin, now under League of Nations mandate, will vote January 11 whether to remain under league rule, rejoin Germany or unite with France.

Rumors of an impending Nazi push in the Saar were followed by an announcement that French garrisons along the border were ready to move, and an official government newspaper in Berlin warned that the French "are playing with fire."

Nothing To Conceal

Britain Prepared To Give Every Assistance To Arms Inquiry

London.—The British government, having "nothing whatever to conceal," plans to give all factions opportunity thoroughly to air the international arms traffic situation.

A statement Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald made in the House of Commons indicated Great Britain, several of whose armaments firms were mentioned in the Washington arms inquiry, is desirous of having the entire situation searchingly reviewed.

The prime minister's declaration that the government has "nothing whatever to conceal" followed hard on the heels of assertions by Sir Bolton Eyre-McNeill, first lord of the admiralty, that allegations that Vickers-Armstrong, British munitions firm had a "friend in the admiralty," were untrue.

For Another Speed Record

Malcolm Campbell Preparing Bluebird For Trials At Daytona Beach

London.—The remodelled British racing car which Sir Malcolm Campbell expects to take to Daytona Beach, Fla., early in January for another assault on his own world speed record of 272.166 miles an hour is rapidly taking shape in his workshop on the outskirts of London.

Although declining to reveal the scope of the alterations until they are completed Sir Malcolm, who is 49, told the Associated Press, "the new Bluebird would look 'quite different' from the old."

"I have real hopes of beating the present record and possibly exceeding 300 miles an hour."

Trade With Newfoundland

Tariff Reductions Have Good Effect On Trade With Canada

Ottawa.—Tariff reductions announced by Newfoundland's commissioner of public utilities will, it is anticipated, have a beneficial effect on Canada's trade with Newfoundland.

In the three months ended June 30 of the present fiscal year, Canada exported merchandise to the value of $1,633,425 to Newfoundland. Exports of wheat flour, totalling 73,116 barrels, were valued at $296,106. Imports from Newfoundland during the same three months amounted to $197,367.

Flight Is Postponed

Dublin.—The attempt of Col. James C. Fitzmaurice to establish a new flight record to Melbourne has been indefinitely postponed. The plane, the "Irish Swallow," was made ready for return to the factory in the United States for alterations. Eric Bonar, co-pilot, will return with the plane to the factory.

Probe Munitions Sale

British Government May Investigate Private Manufacture Of Arms

London.—The British government has decided to establish an inquiry into the private manufacture and sale of war materials, it was stated in political quarters. Official confirmation, however, was lacking for the present.

The Daily Mail said the government's decision was partly a result of the senatorial inquiry at Washington and also partly because of a dradlock in the disarmament conference.

It was believed the government also would promote other nations join a conference to discuss the manufacture and exportation of arms with a view to securing a convention establishing international control.

Such a conference, it was suggested, might take the place of the disarmament conference.

Announcement that these steps have been determined upon, it was stated, will be the government's answer to labor's demands in the House of Commons, and suggestion of the admiralty for an independent inquiry into the placing of contracts for naval construction.

Completes Long Flight

Melrose And Hanson Reach Melbourne On November 1st

Melbourne, Aus.—C. J. Melrose, the solo flying Australian, and Lieutenant M. Hansen, the Dane, both had completed the London-to-Melbourne flight Nov. 1st, continuing in seventh and eighth, respectively.

When Melrose buzzed between the pylons at Fillingim race-course his reputation for coolness was considerably enhanced. Tagging behind him came the tale of how when he was lost 18 miles from Charleville he landed and hailed a passing motorist seeking directions.

"He's a casual customer all right," said the motorist later, adding his verdict to that already expressed in England a month ago when the flyer stepped from the cockpit after an eight day and nine hour flight from Australia with as little ostentation as if he had made a hop from the nearest airport.

Urges Development Of

The Tourist Industry

Director Of Canadian Travel Bureau Addresses Boston Club

Boston.—Development of the tourist industry between Canada and the United States can "forge a new instrument for peace between the two countries," said Dr. Leo Dolan, of Ottawa, in addressing the Canadian club of Boston.

Mr. Dolan is director of the recently-established Canadian travel bureau; and he urged an ever increasing tourist traffic between the United States and Canada.

The people of the United States had spent on travel last year "the astounding figure of $5,000,000,000," said Mr. Dolan, stressing "the great need of reciprocity of travel between the United States and Canada." Last year, he said, estimates showed Canadian travellers spent approximately $40,000,000 in the United States.

Sedition Measure

British Government's Intention To Disfranchise Bill Subject To Change

London.—The government's intention to Disfranchise bill passed through report stages in the House of Commons but several amendments were written into it during the brief two-day debate.

An amendment by the labor opposition providing a search warrant should be issued only by a high court judge and not as originally proposed in the bill by two magistrates, was accepted by the government. A further change was made when the government accepted an amendment providing no prosecution could take place without the consent of the director of public prosecutions.

The bill purports to check distribution of seditious literature among the forces of the crown.

First Criminal Court

Court Room At The Pas Crowded

The Pas, Man.—More than 230 persons from the mining camps of the north and the cities of the south crowded the rooms and corridors of the community building to attend the first criminal sessions of the court of the king's bench ever held in The Pas. Mr. Justice J. A. Adamson, Winnipeg, presided. There were 15 charges and nine indictments on the list. The charges arose out of the strike at Flin Flon on June 30.

Baptize Quintuplets

Ceremony Is Performed At Age Of Five Months And Two Days

Callander, Ont.—Solemn ceremonies of baptism of the Roman Catholic church for the Dionne quintuplet sisters were performed at a private service at the Dafoe hospital, Rev. R. E. McVail, parish priest of Corbett, officiated.

The ceremony, performed five months and two days after the babies' birth, was a simple one. It was witnessed by members of the families of both Mr. and Mrs. Oliva Dionne, the parents, and others, including Mose Legros, father of Mrs. Dionne; Miss A. Dionne, sister of Oliva Dionne; Dr. A. R. Dafoe, the attending physician, and five god-fathers and godmothers.

PRIME MINISTER ANSWERS LETTER OF HON. STEVENS

Ottawa.—Suggesting that the memory of Hon. H. H. Stevens with respect to events leading up to his resignation as minister of trade and commerce, was "at variance with the recollection of my colleagues and myself," Prime Minister R. B. Bennett, in a letter, expressed the opinion no useful purpose would be served by further correspondence.

Mr. Bennett's letter was in reply to that sent him by Mr. Stevens in which the latter stated at some length his criticism of the prime minister and his colleagues, and dealt particularly with the communication sent him accepting his resignation.

The prime minister's letter to Mr. Stevens was sent to the former minister following a brief session of council, and a short time later copies were made available to the press.

In the meantime rumors circulated swiftly of impending cabinet changes but no announcements in this respect are anticipated until the return of Hon. R. J. Manion, minister of railways and canals.

Mr. Bennett's letter follows:

"Dear Sir:

"I received your letter of yesterday in due course.

"As you resigned as minister of trade and commerce and chairman of the royal commission rather than resume, as proposed, the amicable discussion with your then colleagues, which, by consent, was adjourned on Thursday last, when all the relevant papers to which you refer were available to you, no useful purpose will be served by anticipating parliamentary discussion and continuing the correspondence with respect to events of which I think it proper to state that your indicated memory is at variance with the recollection of my colleagues and myself.

"Yours truly,

(Sgd.) "R. B. BENNETT"

New Locks Ordered

Hatton, Warwickshire. A new boat was given inland waterways in England when the Duke of Kent opened the new locks on the Grand Union canal between London and Birmingham. The ceremony marked the completion of a $5,000,000 improvement which began in May, 1931.

HON. H. H. STEVENS RESIGNS

Hon. H. H. Stevens, Minister of Trade and Commerce, who resigned from the Cabinet on the mass buying issue. The resignation came after his alleged refusal to retract utterances made while chairman of the Royal Commission on Price Spreads and Mass Buying.

SCORES VICTORY

Herman Trele recently scored another wheat victory—but this time against the elements. Poor weather conditions played havoc with crops in the Peace River district around harvest time, but they descended upon Wembley too late. Mr. Trele had completed his harvest.

Bright Students

Third Grade Pupils In Toronto Schools Can Answer Questions

Toronto.—Two Toronto senior third grade public school classes claimed marked superiority over similar bodies in London, Ont., when several students correctly identified prime minister R. B. Bennett and Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn of Ontario.

Major R. J. Blaney, of Wilkinston school, said 15 of 33 pupils in the senior third grade of his school knew R. B. Bennett was prime minister of Canada and that 23 of the same group could identify Premier Hepburn. Twelve others had heard of Mr. Bennett but could not describe his office, and two appeared never to have heard of him.

Ten students did not know who Mr. Hepburn is.

Seven knew "Dizzy" Dean was a baseball player, five knew he played for St. Louis Cardinals, and the remaining pupils had never heard of him.

In a North Toronto public school 12 third grade pupils correctly identified Mr. Bennett, five described him merely as premier, one as "governor of Ontario," two as prime minister of Ontario, one as "secretary" of Ontario and one as "president of Canada."

Will Claim Damages

American Flyers, Detained In Persia, Want Compensation

Calcutta, India.—John Wright and John Polando, American flyers in the Melbourne derby, who were detained near the Persian border for more than 24 hours, said they intended to claim damages from the Persian government.

After stripping their engine, they were amazed to find a faulty cylinder was not cracked, as they first believed, and they may now confine the abandoned flight to Melbourne. Otherwise they will sail from Bombay for London, November 10.

Their purpose in returning to London is to discuss their detention in Persia with the air force committee.

Discuss Meat Imports

Britain Submits Memorandum For Future Discussions With Dominions

London.—Conversations between British representatives and delegates from the Dominions concerning the United Kingdom's meat imports were resumed at the Dominions office and it is understood the Britons submitted a memorandum which will form the basis of future discussions.

The memorandum, it was learned, has been cable forwarded to the governments of the various Dominions for their observation. Meanwhile discussion on the question of vital significance to British farmers as well as to the Dominions, has been adjourned for at least a fortnight.

Canada and the other Dominions were represented either by the high commissioners or their representatives. Walter Elliott, minister of agriculture, and J. H. Thomas, Dominions secretary, with other British government officials were also present.

WHEAT PRICES TO BE PEGGED FROM NOV. 1ST

Winnipeg.—Effective Nov. 1, wheat prices will be "pegged" at 75 cents a bushel for the December future and 80 cents a bushel for the May future, it was announced here by the Winnipeg Grain Exchange.

The pegging of the price, on a Fort William basis, was made by the grain exchange at the request of the federal government. John I. McFarland, general manager of the central selling agency of the Canadian Wheat Pools, declared the renewal of wheat selling recently complained of had caused the pegging.

Text of the Winnipeg Grain Exchange statement follows:

"The government has requested that minimum price be set on May and December wheat contracts of 80 cents and 75 cents respectively. Fort William basis, these to take effect November 1, and the government wheat agency to take hold on grain purchases. The council of the exchange has acted in accordance with this request."

Duration of the pegged price was not set. Last year, from August 15 to September 14, a pegged price of 70 cents a bushel on the October future was in effect. The October future for this year terminated Wednesday and only the December and May futures will appear on the board to-day, with the July future being added later.

The peg keeps the December option price at the level of the market's close Wednesday, 75 cents a bushel. A gain of 5 of a cent will be necessary in the May future, which closed at 75 cents a bushel.

Reference in the grain exchange's official statement that the government agency would take up hedge grain purchases was interpreted as assurance a market would be provided for the Western Canada farmers' wheat. It was also done to enable elevator companies to function in a normal way in the Dominion.

The announcement came from the exchange president, Roy W. Milner, after an emergency meeting of the council.

Mr. McFarland, informed of the council's action, said immediate government action had been found necessary because of resumption of heavy selling in the Winnipeg pit by interests outside the Dominion.

A month ago, Mr. McFarland, who conducts federal government stabilization operations in the Winnipeg pit, made the charge that outside influence was directed at cutting down Winnipeg wheat prices. Two days ago he recommended to the federal government that control and restriction of the Winnipeg pit operations be made effective. He also declared government stabilization efforts would continue.

"There is evidence that the Winnipeg market is still the target of interest foreign to the wheat producer of Western Canada," said Mr. McFarland in commenting on the exchange council's action. "While the government has in mind certain restrictions that will curtail operations witnessed the past few months, it will take some little time to put these into effect."

"In the meantime, the government is not prepared to stand by and watch the demoralization of the Canadian farmers' market by interests outside the Dominion, and has therefore asked the officials of the Winnipeg Grain Exchange to 'peg' prices until such time as regulatory action can be taken."

LABOR MAKES HEAVY GAINS IN BRITISH VOTING

London.—Labor registered sweeping gains in returns available here from municipal elections held all over England. The heaviest losses were suffered by the Conservatives.

The results were watched with keen interest because the elections are regarded as an unusually important test of public opinion in view of the probability of a general election next year.

The results in London district showed a strong swing to the Labor side but in many municipalities in that district the Conservatives left the municipal reform candidates are broadly classified as Conservatives.

With 98 results complete throughout England and Wales, the results showed Labor had made 203 gains against eight losses. The Conservatives had gained 13 seats against 100 losses; the Liberals had gained four and lost 34 and Independents had gained five and lost 74.

With results in 11 London boroughs still to come, the result in London district showed Labor had gained 227 seats and lost one; the municipal reform (Conservative) group had lost 210 and gained but one while Independents and others had lost 17.

Batavia was one London district where the Laborites captured enough seats to turn a municipal reform majority into a Labor majority.

Voting in London was watched particularly because there it was the first municipal voting since the general elections of 1931. In that area 28 boroughs vote only once every three years. London elections were complete but elsewhere only one-third of the council membership was to be decided.

A National Emergency

Churchill Warns Britain That Germany Is Re-Arming Rapidly

Woodford Bridge, England.—Winston Churchill warned Britain that Germany, re-arming "secretly, illegally and rapidly," will have "over-taken us before another year has passed" in "organized military machine."

"A reign of terror exists in Germany in order to keep secret the feverish and terrible preparations they are making," the former chancellor of the exchequer told his constituency.

"Vice-premier Stanley Baldwin has said our frontiers are the Rhine."

"Can we be sure that the men in control in Germany will not reply to that: 'Our targets are the Thames?'"

A national emergency is approaching, Churchill said, as he attacked the National government for what he said was its laggardness in completing the program for air defense. Churchill declared the approaching emergency must be faced "with energy and courage if a safe, coherent and peace-keeping policy is to be found."

King Boris Drives Train

Takes Place Of Engineer Who Was Seriously Burned

Sofia, Bulgaria.—King Boris risked his life to save an engineer from death in his burning locomotive, and then himself took the throttle to bring the train more than 100 miles to Varna.

The king left his special car, attached to the train near Strazica when fire broke out in the coal tender. Noticing the engineer's clothes were aflame, he climbed into the cab and pulled the burning garments from the man's body.

After arranging for medical care for the seriously injured engineer, Boris took the driver's place and drove the locomotive the rest of the way into Varna.

Rocket Mail Tested

Trieste, Italy.—A steel tube was rocketed from the side of a mountain near here, and landed undamaged in a valley 2½ miles away, with a cargo of 1,600 letters. The demonstration, testing a speedy means of transporting mail between nearby points, was termed a success by its inventor, Gerard Zucher.

New German Stamps

Berlin.—The reich government announced that a series of postage stamps will be issued depicting "the peaceful activities of the German people." The stamps, which will be of five to seven pennings in value, will be issued early in 1935 and the proceeds devoted to charity.

Must Simplify Tax System

From the Financial Post

One of the reasons for the appalling increase in tax errors is practically all Canadian municipalities is that we have attempted to build up a structure of municipal services beyond the revenue possibilities of municipal taxation. Emergency relief, intended as a palliative, but did not create it. The cost of maintaining social services has risen in every municipality. Local governments depend largely on taxes on property for their revenues, and property cannot carry the taxes that have had to be imposed. It is useless to impose taxes beyond the earning power of property, but this is exactly what many municipalities have attempted to do.

Throughout Canada there is an agitation for an increase in the taxing powers of the municipalities. It is voiced by many municipal authorities. Alderman J. B. Symour of Calgary, has just issued a lengthy memorandum urging that the provincial government increase income tax, inheritance tax, gasoline tax, and similar taxes and return the excess so collected to the cities in the form of grants to replace the present property tax. His proposal is typical of many now being made.

Social services are primarily an effort to redistribute wealth. They are an attempt to achieve socialism via taxation. Logically, then, they must be financed by taxes that are imposed chiefly on wealth. Income taxes and inheritance taxes are the most brutally effective manner of confiscating a proportion of the larger income and the larger estates. The dominion government, through its income surtaxes, makes an attempt to take its toll from wealth. The provincial government attempts to do the same thing. Are we going to have the municipalities also going in for the famous business of attempting to seek the rich?

If we are to have social services and paternalistic legislation, they cannot be financed by the municipalities, whose governmental functions should be made simpler and less expensive than they have tended to become in recent years. Only to a limited degree can they be financed by the provinces whose burdens in education, highways and the development of natural resources are very great. To the degree that we are to have socialism by means of tax it should be purely a national affair in order that any inequalities between the people in the different provinces may be avoided.

The solution of the tax problems of the municipalities and the provinces is not to be found in giving them larger taxing powers. In fact, the confusion and extra expense involved in duplicate taxation are already actually working against the national economic interest. The municipalities and provinces have gone too far and should now retire from many of the fields they have entered, living within the more modest incomes they enjoyed in earlier days. The basis of municipal taxation should be the property tax, and a reasonable property tax based on a fair proportion of the earning power of the property. The provinces should rely upon two or three simple forms of revenue such as that from natural resources, the gasoline tax to pay for the highways and others—amusement taxes, liquor profits, etc.—which have been by policy or default allotted to them. Beyond such a fairly simple framework of local taxation any additional levies should be imposed chiefly under the direction of the dominion which must assume whatever burden public opinion demands of it in connection with the extension of social legislation and services in Canada.

The present conflict of aims and ambitions in the social service field is leading the Canadian provinces and municipalities directly into insolvency. Many of them have already achieved that unhappy condition.

It often happens that when a complaint is not returned it is due to some unaccountable obstacle.

Pat had been invited to the funeral of a neighbor's third wife, and, as he had attended the funerals of the first two, his own wife was surprised when he informed her he was not going.

"But why are you not going to this one?" asked his wife.

"Well, Mr. ag. it's like this. I feel a bit awkward to be always accepting Tim's civilities when I never have anything of the sort to ask him back to."

250,000,000 BUSHELS IN REVISION

WINNIPEG, Oct. 31.—Canada will supply practically half the world wheat and flour requirements in the current crop season, said G. J. S. Broomhall, noted English market statistician, in a revised estimate of world wheat requirements issued from Liverpool Wednesday.

Mr. Broomhall reiterated his estimate of world requirements released three months ago of 576,000,000 bushels and said Canada would be called upon to furnish 280,000,000 bushels of this amount, in his previous estimate he awarded Canada 281,000,000 bushels.

A reduction of 44,000,000 bushels from his previous estimate of wheat surplus in exporting countries was contained in Wednesday's figure.

The amounts in bushels Mr. Broomhall estimated each exporting country would contribute to world requirements on the basis of the revised estimate were: Canada, 280,000,000; Argentina, 168,000,000; Australia, 88,000,000; United States, 8,000,000; France, Danube, etc., 32,000,000; total 576,000,000.

INCREASE OF 25 MILLION IN BRITISH DEATH DUTIES

LONDON.—Since the beginning of the present financial year the wills of eight millionaires have been published and death duties have yielded more than $20,000,000 over the amount collected in the same period last year. The British Treasury benefits to the extent of $1,870,000 in death duties from the $6,000,000 estate of the late Sir Heath Harrison, former shipowner.

Sir Heath left $50,000 to be divided among such charities as he wished.

His steward and butler each receive $2,500 and another personal servant $500.

He also left one year's wages to each indoor servant at his home Le Court, Greattham, Hants, and a similar amount to each outdoor servant.

At the death of Sir Heath, his pension and allowances made during his life time are to be continued.

LONDON, Nov. 2.—A fresh attack on John I. McFarland, head of the Canadian wheat pools' central selling agency, for his latest effort to set Winnipeg grain prices on a pedestal above those obtaining elsewhere, is launched by the Financial News, a leading London commercial daily, today.

Success of his price-pegging scheme, says the newspaper, stands or falls by the behavior of world prices. If they rise all will be well, if they fall, Winnipeg "will become no more than a nominal market with trading at a standstill until McFarland permits his exchange to alter the regulations. The time is long past when Canadian traders could truthfully say that the price of their wheat is what they ask for it."

The Financial News describes the McFarland attack on foreign bear raiders as "childishly absurd."

"It is denied that an attack from abroad has at any time in the past two months been in the nature of a raid," concluded the newspaper. "Those who keep prices at an artificially high level must expect to be on occasion to take advantage of that level when markets elsewhere allow their prices to move naturally."

ENGLISH SUBSTITUTED FOR ITALIAN IN ISLAND OF MALTA SCHOOLS

ROME.—The action of the British government in making compulsory the teaching of English in place of Italian in the elementary schools of the island of Malta, was taken up Wednesday by 320 Italian senators. They presented an interpellation to Premier Mussolini, as minister of foreign affairs, asking the government's opinion on the subject.

Hothouse tomato and cucumber growers on Vancouver Island are at odds with themselves over the proposed controlled marketing scheme. A board of three is proposed, one member of which would be chosen from the Chinese growers. In voting on the scheme glass areas is to be the basis of the franchise, a grower with 2,000 square feet to have one vote, and an additional vote for each additional 10,000 square feet. A petition is being circulated against features of the proposal and asking that growers themselves appoint the selling agency, that only 5 cents (instead of 7 1/2 cents) be made on each package. The petitioners allege the scheme will deliver the growers into the hands of the large buyers. The weaknesses of a controlled marketing scheme seem to come from within.

British Labor Records Gain; Tories Suffer

By A. C. Cummings

LONDON, Nov. 2.—Capturing 18 important towns, winning more than 500 seats throughout England and Wales and overturning Conservative rule in six London boroughs, the Labor party today celebrates the biggest victory in local politics it has ever known.

It had a stiff battle to fight. Lord Beaverbrook threw all the influence of his million circulation news papers into the campaign for control of the London municipal title. Lord Rothermere's and Lord Camrose's journals aided the Conservatives. Notwithstanding such support, Labor not only gained six boroughs but in Poplar and Hornsey wiped out all opposition.

"A political black eye for Beaverbrook" is Labor's comment on the results.

Though municipal elections turn on such issues as housing, municipal spending and unemployment relief, the unmistakable swing against the Conservative party is considered ominous by supporters of Premier MacDonald's government.

Manchester gave Labor a net gain of eight seats over the Conservatives and Liverpool a net gain of nine. The same story was told in Blakenhead, Burnley, Derby, Preston and many other centres.

Further results from London boroughs were as follows:

Fulham, Labor gained 27 seats; Lambeth, 27; Municipal Reform 13; Labor gain.

Southwark, Labor gained 52 seats; Labor 59, Independent one; Labor gain from Municipal Reform party.

Woolwich, Labor gained 12; Labor 35, Municipal Reform 10; Labor gain.

Shoreditch, Labor gained 29; Labor 30, Municipal Reform six; Labor gain.

Labor gained 227 seats with one loss. The Municipal Reformers lost 210 seats against one gain. Independent and others lost 17.

Outside London, Labor gained control of the council in Stoke-on-Trent, Oldham, Hull, Darby, Burnley, Bostle and Birkhead. They retained control in Barrow, E. Masey, Leeds, Lincoln, Morthy Tydd, Nelson, Rotherham, St. Helen's, Sheffield, Swan sea and Norwich.

NET RESULTS

Net result of the voting in the principal cities, towns and boroughs.

Conservative losses, 96.

Liberal losses, 30.

Independent losses, 69.

Forty five Conservative seats lost in various parts of the country. All were defeated.

"I AM YOUR COMMUNITY"

I am the neighborhood, and the Group of neighborhoods in which your children are growing up. I am the contented habits and ideals of the people among whom your lot is cast.

I reach out many and invisible hands and lay them every hour upon the pitiful soul of your child.

The neighborhood news stands; the conversation in the pool rooms; the attitudes to the law and the police; the standards that select approve your moving pictures; the ideas and practices of religion. These are mine, for I make them.

Through these I set the temper and the standards of social life into which you thrust your child and to which you must trust him.

To you I am largely unknown. You say that I do not count. You believe that a wise home life will make me of none effect, but unseen and in spite of you, I work my will upon you and your child. Until you make me safe, the world is unsafe for the child—your or another's.

I am your community."

P. R. Haywood

There is very great food for thought in these words of Dr. Haywood. The forces that mould human character or weal or woe are ever about us. No man and no home is completely isolated—God has made it so.

"Your medicine has helped me wonderfully," wrote the grateful woman. "A month ago I could not spank the baby, and now I am able to thrash my husband. Heaven bless you."

CAMROSE, Oct. 31.—Trapped when flames spread through the building in which they were sleeping three young women reached safety by jumping from upper storey windows into a net held by firemen early Wednesday. The women, Violet Moore, Mary Molk and Anne Patrick, lost their personal effects in the blaze, escaping in their night attire. Miss Moore's feet were slightly cut by broken glass.

An overheated stove is blamed for the fire which gutted the upper portion of the building. Lower portion was used as boy scout headquarters. The three women were asleep until awakened by the crackling flames. Escape by the stairway was cut off by a wall of fire. Smashing a window, they attracted attention of fire men and were saved.

The three are employees of A. D. Campbell, hotel proprietor here.

Judge (to victim of hold up): "While you were being relieved of your valuables did you call the police?"

Victim: "Yes, m'ud, everything I could think of!"

Hubby—Did the man send the lobster?

Wife—Yes, but I returned them. They weren't ripe.

Well, old man, has fortune smiled on you yet?

No. I'm beginning to think that the dame must have a front tooth out.

Mr. (reading)—The paper tells of a woman who married a man under the impression that he was some body else. How strange.

Mrs.—Not at all. I did the same thing myself.

Customer—"You don't seem so quick at figures, my boy."

Newsy—"No, boss. Most of the men say, 'Keep that change.'"

Miss Young—So you've known him only a month. Don't you think you are taking a great many chances in marrying him?

Miss Oldin (candidly)—Dear me no. It's the only chance I've had in twenty years.

Housewife (to new girl)—There's one more thing I wish to say. Gertrude, if my husband should attempt to get gay with you, just box his ears.

Gertrude—"Yes, Mrs. Doe I've already done so."

Mr. Henpeck—Now, look here, I refuse to do as you say in this matter. I'll have you know that no woman ever made a fool of me.

His wife—Who did it then?

Two S. O. M. men were taking a walk and were hot and tired.

"Hae ye got any fool wi' ye, Dougal?" asked one.

"A've a bottle of whisky. What hae you, Angus?"

"Dried tongue."

"Gud! Then we'll gas halves wi' oor procecalons."

The whisky was duly divided and drunk. Angus wiped his lips, "Noo for yer dried tongue, Dougal."

"Mon," said Dougal, "it's no dry the no!"

How frequently a hero passes out without more than the casual report in a newspaper or possibly a few additional comments by his neighbors and townsmen. Sometimes of course, recognition is made in an official way—such as the erection of a monument or such like. A brave deed by a member of Lloydminster community brought the thought to mind. Here is what it says:

LLOYDMINSTER, Sask., Oct. 25.—One man is dead and a second in hospital following his rescue after he had attempted to rescue the first in a farm well 10 miles north of here.

Archibald Downey, 31, fell the last 25 feet of a 300-foot well when overcome by gas, and Lawrence Johnson shinned down a pipe after him. He, too collapsed, and when police hauled them out Downey was dead.

CANADA TO OBSERVE

TWO MINUTES SILENCE

OTTAWA, Oct. 25.—The 'great silence' between 11 a.m. and 11:02 a.m. on November 11 will be observed in Canada, and this government has issued instructions to provincial and municipal authorities to arrange for suspension of all vehicular traffic during these two minutes.

Railway and water transport will not be suspended.

An announcement by Secretary of State, G. H. Cohen, Oct. 26, declared that the King had approved of Canada's arrangements for observing the two minutes silence.

STREAMLINED TRAIN MAKES RECORD RUN

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—The record breaking streamlined train of the Union Pacific, the M-10001, rolled into Grand Central Station at 9:56 a.m. across country run from Los Angeles to New York city in 56 hours and 56 minutes.

The running time for the coast to coast trip set a new record by 14 hours and 31 minutes over the previous record of 71 hours 27 minutes set in 1906.

The train was held to the 18-hr. running time of the 20th Century Limited. Crowded conditions of the train yards around New York forced it to slow up as it neared its destination.

The tube-shaped flier set a world's speed record of 120 miles an hour yesterday, but over the final lap of the journey its speed sometimes was less than 60 miles an hour.

Remarkable New Aid in Avoiding Colds—Samples Free at Local Druggists

Every Family in This Locality Offered a Free Trial
Of Vicks Va-tro-nol For Nose and Throat—Also
Of Its Ideal Companion, Vicks VapoRub

RESULT OF RESEARCH

New Aid in Preventing Colds
Leads to Plan for Better
Control of Colds

PLAN EASY TO FOLLOW

Years ago, Vicks VapoRub introduced the modern method of treating colds. Now, Vicks VapoRub has developed the ideal companion to VapoRub—Vicks Va-tro-nol—the new aid in preventing colds.

These two preparations, together with a few simple rules of health, form the unique Vicks Plan for Better Control of Colds. The helpfulness of Vicks Plan in reducing the number, duration and dangers of colds has been clinically tested by practicing physicians. (The Plan is fully explained in each Vicks package.)

Here, briefly, is how Vicks Plan works:

To Help Prevent Colds

Watch yourself and children after exposure to any condition apt to be followed by a cold—such as: Contact with others having active colds—crowds, public places, stuffy ill-ventilated rooms—sudden changes in temperature, wet or cold, or unaccustomed exposures—excesses in living which lower resistance, such as over-eating, smoking, or drinking after a hard day when you are overtired.

Then, if you have that stuffy, sneezy, irritation in the nasal passages where most colds start, use Vicks Va-tro-nol at once—just a few drops up each nostril. Used in time, Va-tro-nol helps to prevent many annoying colds, and to throw off colds in their early stages.

To Help Shorten a Cold

If a cold has developed, or strikes without warning, apply Vicks VapoRub over throat and chest at bedtime. Through the skin, VapoRub acts direct like a poultice. At the same time, the medicated vapors are inhaled with every breath direct to the inflamed air-passages. This combined double action through the night loosens phlegm—softens irritated membranes—eases difficult breathing—helps break congestion.

During the day—any time, any place—use Vicks Va-tro-nol every few hours as needed. This gives you full 24-hour treatment without the risks of constant internal dosing, which so often upsets the digestion—especially of children.

Trial Packages Free

Your druggist has free combination packages containing trial sizes of Va-tro-nol and VapoRub—also folder telling how these twin aids to fever and shorter colds are used in Vicks Plan for Better Control of Colds. Ask for yours today, as your druggist's supply is limited.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

NOVEMBER 11

THE CHRISTIAN CITIZEN

Golden text: "All they that take the sword shall perish with the sword." Matthew 26:52.

Lesson: Galatians 5:13-26.

Devotional reading: Micah 4:1-3.

Explanations And Comments

Live at Peace With One Another, verses 13-15. The people to whom Paul wrote this letter lived in Galatia, the Roman province which extended north and south across the central plateau of Asia Minor. In Southern Galatia were the cities where Paul founded churches on his second missionary journey—Antioch in Pisidia, Iconium, Lystra and Derbe. He visited Galatia again on his third missionary journey, and two or three years later wrote this letter.

In the beginning of the fifth chapter Paul tells his readers that Christ sets them free from the bondage of the old law, and urges them to hold fast their freedom. "That in our law," he tells them not to err in thinking that freedom from the requirements of the law means dissipation of its spirit, which is of love to others. "To men who have been accustomed to think of law as the only obstacle to free self-indulgence, or to those who have not been accustomed to high ethical standards, freedom from the law was easily taken to mean that for the Christian there is nothing to stand in the way of the unrestrained indulgence of his own impulses. Of this danger Paul is well aware (Rom. 6:1; Phil. 3:17; Col. 3:1), and beginning with this verse he addresses himself vigorously to meeting and arresting it."

Liberty and license are free from the law, but Christian liberty does not mean that you can do as you please. Liberty and license are not synonymous. Do not use your freedom as a license for indulging your lower impulses, but live in accordance with the law of love. "Flesh" is used here for "that element of man's nature which is opposed to goodness and makes for evil. It signifies the entire potency of sin. Through joy-loving and others, continued Paul, you fulfil the whole divine law, which is, 'Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself.'"

A Christian man is the most free lord of all, and subject to none; a Christian man is the most dutiful servant of all, and subject to all" (Martin Luther).

Then, remembering that the Galatians were prone to quarrel, Paul adds, "But if ye bite and devour one another [act toward one another like the dogs or wild beasts], beware lest you destroy one another [one another's spiritual life]."

"No man resolved to make the most of himself can spare the time for personal contention. Still less can he expect to take the time for others, including the vitiation of his temper and the loss of self-control."

Little Journeys In Science

GLASS

(By Gordon H. Guest, M.A.)

Historians tell us that the Egyptians discovered how to make glass. The production of glass on a large scale started in Egypt about 1570 B.C. Alkali (sodium carbonate) was melted with crushed quartz, limestone, and copper compounds in crucibles to give a blue glass. Glass made in Egypt was shipped to all parts of the Roman Empire.

Science has shown the modern manufacturer how to produce many new and useful kinds of glass. Ordinary glass, which is composed of soda, lime and sand cracks readily when suddenly heated or cooled. If common glass is heated strongly it softens, and vessels made from it change their shape. The addition of boron compounds and certain metallic oxides to the formula of ordinary glass produces a type of glass known as Pyrex glass, which can stand high temperatures. Recently scientists have produced pyrex glass by replacing some or all of the lime with aluminum or some other metals.

Pyrex glass is strong and stands changes in temperature so well that cooking dishes can be manufactured from it. Silica, commonly known as sand, can be converted into a transparent glass known as silica glass, which can be heated to redness and plunged into cold water without being fractured.

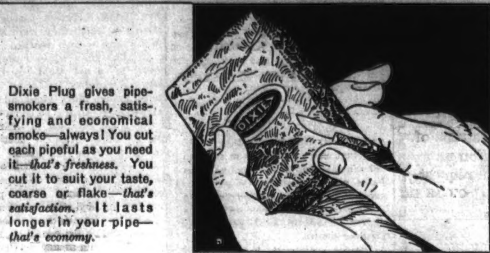

Optical glass for lenses of all kinds is produced by adding lead oxide to the glass mixture. Optical glass must be free from all color-producing materials and must be free even from very small air bubbles or stringy waves. Cheap imitations of glass are made from glass very rich in lead (lead), and the glass of which cut-glass vessels is made is of this same kind but it contains less lead.

Recently a plate glass has been produced in England which has special strength and toughness. The glass does not splinter when broken, but forms small comparatively harmless fragments. This toughened glass is about five times as strong as ordinary plate glass.

"Old Matt" Was Carriage Attendant In London Thirty Years

"Old Matt", a familiar character in London, who is estimated to have opened the doors of more than 2,000,000 private cars, taxicabs and hansom cabs, had died in that city, aged 74. His name was Walter Matthews, and for thirty years he was the carriage attendant outside Simpson's in the Strand. In his youth he was a noted boxer, and later went to New York as a butler. Since returning to London he declined several offers to return to the United States.

The bridegroom was in a poetic frenzy as he strolled along the seashore. "Roll on, thou dark and dark blue ocean, roll," he recited to his bride.

"Oh, Gerald," she exclaimed, "how wonderful you are. It's doing it."

A Clever Artist

English Artist Uses Wood For Canvas And Picture

At Southampton lives one of the most unusual artists in the world—a carpenter who "paints" pictures with pieces of wood. He uses three-ply wood for a canvas and in one of his pictures—a picture of a tree in leaf—nearly 3,000 pieces of wood were used. He obtains light and shade effects by selecting the right grain markings. It is impossible to detect joins when the pictures are finished. They are coated with a clear white polish and framed in ebony. Rare and expensive woods from all over the world go to the making of these unique pictures. Some woods are so brittle that they must be cut with great care before being glued into position. When the Queen admired six of the pictures at an exhibition in London she was informed they had taken four years to complete.

Model of Wireless-Controlled Airship Is Being Tested

Experiments are being made in Tiltis with the model of a wireless-controlled airship. The length of the model is 30 feet, and it carries no passengers but a "mechanical man" in the shape of a complicated wireless apparatus. It is intended that by means of another wireless on the ground the dirigible shall be made to ascend and then to be steered in any direction. It is hoped, according to Reuter, that it will be possible to make the airship drop propaganda leaflets over any place to which it may be sent.

THE TENDERFOOT

By GEORGE E. RODNEY
Author of "The Coronado Trail," "The Canyon Trail," etc.

SYNOPSIS

"You've taken me to a half-acre in plenty of trouble," the lawyer told Gerald Keene. "The Broken Spur ranch has been systematically looted, and old Joe Carr, your partner, is drinking himself into ruin."

But Keene decided to go see what was happening for himself—not as Gerald Keene, half owner of the Hour-Glass ranch, but as Duro Stone, tenderfoot, a Montgomery Ward wildcat outfit.

Dad Kane, desert rat and luckless prospector, told Keene to tell Dustin and Spike Goddard, owners of the Broken Spur ranch, who had grubstaked him, of his discovery of a rich gold mine, and shows samples of the ore. He sees Broken Spur men rustling Hour-glass cattle and protests against it.

Spike Goddard and Sam Dustin, fearing the old prospector may tell the things he has seen as to the branding of Carr's cattle, plot to get him to show them the location of the mine and then to kill him. (Now Go On With The Story)

Dustin swung about to face a gray little figure that stood at the right of him. Sam Peters had been cashier of the Seco Bank for more than thirty years. Scotch by descent and cautious by nature, only once had he ventured to extend his activities beyond Seco. He was like Kipling's muskrat that all his life tried to master courage to run to the middle of the floor. Peters mustered that courage once, and Dustin caught him with a loan of five thousand dollars on his house. That loan saved Peters his bank job but it made him the bond-slave of Sam Dustin.

"Just a moment, Peters," Dustin drew him aside. "How much money does old man Carr owe the bank? I've got to know."

"The bank?" Peters quavered. "He don't owe the bank at all, Mr. Dustin. He did owe the bank but old man Pegram took it up. It's a note and Mr. Pegram's word'n't right now what to do with it. He's lost a lot of money and needs cash."

"How much is the note for?" "Well . . . Old Carr hasn't paid any interest on it for a year. It's about twelve thousand dollars right now. And I'll tell you more . . . Old man Pegram better let go all on him just as soon as he can. Old Carr's in a bad way."

Dustin's heart gave a great jump. This was better than he dared hope. He stared hard at the little figure before him.

"I've got a five thousand dollar note of yours, Peters," he said. "It's secured by this house and lot, eh?" "Yes, sir. That's so." "Something hard in his throat seemed to choke the little gray cashier."

"That note of yours is due next week. I want that note of Carr's that Pegram's got. See?" "Yes, sir. I swear I don't see how I can fix it. It's Mr. Pegram's private business. I . . ."

More than ever did Sam Peters regret that accused flier in wheat that was to remove him and his old wife from any danger of poverty. He made one final wriggle for escape.

"As matters stand, I don't see how it can help you to own a half share of the Hour-glass ranch," he said. "Half of it? You're a plain fool, Peters. I'll own the whole place. Soda Springs and all," he added. "Old man Carr owns the Hour-glass, don't he?"

"He owns half of it," said Peters. "That's all. When old man Peter Vinton died, he left the Hour-glass half to Joe Carr, his old partner, and half to his sister's son, one Gerald Keene. When Carr wanted to borrow on his half of the place, we had to look up the will. That's how I know I saw the will. It says that if either Carr or Keene dies, his half goes to the survivor."

"For the love o' God!" Dustin was breathless. "Say that again."

"Peters said it again and Dustin, sure that he had not misunderstood, let go a smoke-scent of profanity. It was not the jovial profanity of good-nature but the vitriolic overflow of one who fears he has been hurt and who is not sure of the extent of the injury. In one brief kaleidoscopic moment the failure of his plans seemed to him. If Gerald Keene, the nephew of old Peter Vinton, owned half the Hour-glass then he, Sam Dustin, even if he succeeded in ousting Joe Carr, was only getting a new partner whom he did not even know.

He sized old Peters and whirled him about in the moonlight to face him. "There was but one thing to be done. Too much depended on what old Kane knew! That miserable old desert-rat could send him and Spike to jail for a half a lifetime and Joe Carr could keep him out of a fortune. The solution came in a sudden storm of ill-considered impulse."

"If you want to keep a roof over your old wife's head," he snarled, "you buy up for me every scrap of paper that old Carr has signed. I want to own the half-share of the Hour-glass. Get me?"

Peters gaped helplessly at him. "I mean what I say, you old fool. Where can I find this man Gerald Keene? The man who owns the other half of the Hour-glass?"

"I don't know," Mr. Dustin. I swear I don't. Nobody knows. Even Mr. Carr don't know. He's been tryin' to find him through Mr. Burley of the Drovers Bank in Cato but he wrote us that he was handling Mr. Keene's business and that Mr. Keene was travelling somewhere and couldn't be reached just now."

Dustin grunted disbeliever but he could do nothing at present. He had plenty of money in the bank and Peters knew it. There was no question of the validity of the check that Dustin wrote at the hotel desk and passed to the gray-faced little cashier who took it shakily. He pouted it, refused a cigar and headed for the bank feeling like a condemned criminal who has received notice of an unexpected reprieve.

"I'm sorry for old Carr," he muttered; "but I can't help it. I can't see Mame go to the Poorhouse and out that what'll happen if Dustin sees that note. Oh, hell! What's the use kickin'! But I wish I could put a spoke in Dustin's wheel."

He saw Pegram at the bank who was only too glad to get rid of Carr's note for Dustin's check and he turned that over to Dustin who promptly headed back for the Broken Spur. He found Spike anxiously awaiting him and he was drawn into the office by a nod from his partner.

"What luck, Sam?" "The best in the world except for one thing. I found out that old Carr does not own all the Hour-glass. He owns half of it. The other half belongs to one Gerald Keene, nephew of old Peter Vinton. If either Carr or Keene dies, the other gets the whole place. . . ."

"Well," said Spike who saw no further than the end of his nose. "You call it well, do you? Damned if I do. I can't get at this man Keene. No one seems to know his address. If I could find him, I'd offer to buy his share of the Hour-glass. One thing is sure now, though. We've simply got to find out from old Dad Kane the exact place where he located that ore."

"I hope you can shut his damned mouth," said Spike passionately. "Ed Raynor, the tax collector, was there for grub and old man Kane began shootin' off his face. He was stringin' Gay and Corse about what he seen 'em doing up in the hills. I headed him off in time and I don't think Raynor caught on to what he was sayin' . . . What you goin' to do?" he asked sharply for Dustin, with a sharp little oath, was heading for the bunk-house.

Old Dad Kane, striding just inside the door, was suddenly matched off his feet and was sent spinning against the wall. He turned like a flash and a rusty old six-gun, a cap and ball affair, was thrust under Dustin's nose.

"You keep yore hands where they're used to bein' . . . In other men's pockets," snapped the old prospector. "What you want? Hey?"

"To shut your fool head and to keep you from lettin' all the world in on what you found. You damned old fool! Don't you know that one word from Ed Raynor'll send a hundred men up Red Water? Come into the house. I want to talk to you."

Wholly angry, sweating, incoherent threats at every pore, Kane followed Dustin into the office. Once in the room Dustin turned on him:

"Look here, Dad. . . . His very tone was placating for he had time to reflect. . . . It's all my fault. I just couldn't stand seein' our one chance of a fortune go glimmerin' just because you talk too damned much. I don't know just what you said but I do know that after a long time in the hills most men's jaws relax. You mustn't give any one even a hint that you found pay-dirt in the hills. If you do, we're busted. You knew well enough that one word of gold in Red Water will start a stampede up there. Where'll we be then?"

North Pole Controversy

Claim of Dr. Cook Cause As Close To Pole As Admiral Peary

The claims of Dr. Frederick A. Cook to discovery of the North Pole were credited by J. Gordon Hayes, Polar historian, with as much accuracy as those of Admiral Robert E. Peary.

In his book, "The Conquest of the North Pole," published recently, Hayes said many of Cook's statements may be accepted as genuine and truthful.

Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd and Floyd Bennett were said by Hayes to have been the first persons actually to reach the Pole.

"Admiral Peary," Hayes said, "never was within 50 or more miles of the North Pole. There have been many critics of Peary's claim on both sides of the Atlantic, and all disinterested inquirers have come to the same conclusion—that he didn't reach the Pole; by this it may be understood he never was within 50 or more miles of its position.

Hayes submits Dr. Peary in 1908 "probably reached at least as high a latitude as that attained by Admiral Peary the following year; that Cook's statements except in relation to his attainment of the North Pole and possibly his glacial island, may be accepted as substantially genuine, truthful and accurate."

LIFE MOVES IN CYCLES

Life moves in cycles and all seeming change is but the glitter of the turning wheel. For there is no new thing and nothing strange Does the long passage of the years reveal.

There is no change. The Grecian Helen's look was clear as yours when she was glad and young. Though now, between the pages of a book Her story moves in a neglected tongue.

Life moves in cycles. Helen once was fair As you to-day, for Paris' eyes to see As you for mine, and on your cheek No brighter beauty's banner than did she.

Though I could doubt your love like has been before, Life wheels like stars, what has been comes once more!

Old friends, old scenes, will lover-ber be. As mote of heaven in each we see.

Some softening gleam of love and prayer Shall dawn on every cross and care. —J. Keble.

It requires far more of the constraining love of Christ to love our cousins and neighbors of the heavenly family, than to feel warm to our suffering brothers in Tucson or Madeira. To love the whole Church is one thing, to love, that is to delight in the graces and veil the defects, of the person who misunderstands us and opposed our plans yesterday, whose peculiar infirmities grate on our most sensitive feelings, or whose natural faults are precisely those from which our natural character most revolts, is quite another.

A Temple there has been upon earth, a spiritual Temple made up of living souls, a Temple with God for its light and Christ for its high priest, with wings of angels for its arches, with saints and teachers for its pillars, and with worshippers for its pavement. Wherever there is Faith and Love this Temple is.—J. H. Newman.

Significant are the trade reports from Germany stating that cotton spinners and weavers say the factories cannot meet the demands for textiles. The raw materials needed for the trades are shy because Germany cannot arrange to import wool and other goods from outside nations. And, as the Germans do not produce the materials themselves the factories are faced with a famine. Desperate efforts have been made to arrange some sort of barter but these have not been too successful because high protectionists do not know how to negotiate a national trade. Germany's plight, the result of the tariff and exchange war, is similar to that under the Naval blockade which starved her of essential raw materials.
